To create the side skirt for a Westie, always start with a freshly washed and brushed dog. The side skirt begins just at the widest part of the ribcage, meaning that is where you will want to blend off your clipper work. The skirt should be under that line. Be careful to not confuse the pattern with the American Cocker Spaniel or Schnauzer by leaving the skirt too high or too low. You will want the dog to look as natural as possible, so use a longer blade or even attachment combs that are closer to the breed standard length. Clipping the hair with the direction that it lays will help prevent lines. Using the Andis Deshedding Tool (pg. 11) to touch up the clipper work and pattern lines will aid in better blending, preserving the texture and color.
